

Story 30

My story in my own words.

I was born in Punjab (Pakistan). My childhood was not like that of other children. People thought I was a Hijra when actually I just liked other boys.

The taunts of society broke me and led me to have suicidal thoughts. One day I attempted suicide but Allah desired something else and I was not able to commit suicide. After that failed attempt my faith in Allah increased and I eventually came to know that there are a lot of other gay Muslims too.

My life has been passing on in this manner and now I hope to meet someone that I can spend the rest of my life with.
